

Project Manager - Chicago, IL

We're Hiring!

Join our team as a Project Manager in Chicago! Manage structural engineering projects, coordinate with clients, guide team members, and lead the creation of construction documents. This leadership role is perfect for those who thrive in a positive, energetic culture and are strong contributors to business development in the Chicago AEC community.

Key Responsibilities:

- Spend 80-85% of your time in an engineering role, organizing and executing all aspects of structural engineering design.
- Communicate effectively with clients, contractors, and team members to understand project goals and coordinate designs.
- Develop and maintain strong relationships internally and externally.
- Perform structural analysis and design calculations, supervise team members, and conduct site visits.
- Contribute to knowledge sharing and develop areas of specialty knowledge.

Business Development:

- Act as an ambassador with teammates, clients, and industry peers.
- Participate in after-work industry events (2-4/month).

Qualifications:

- Bachelor's Degree in Architectural or Civil Engineering (Structural emphasis).
- Master's Degree in Structural Engineering preferred.
- 10+ years of experience in structural design of buildings.
- Current Professional Engineer License (structural engineering) in the US; eligible for Texas licensing within 3 months.

Skills:

- Strong engineering expertise and project management skills.
- Excellent client relations and leadership abilities.
